

Scenario#01

Negative Space is a well known comic writing competition platform. Both new and recognized writers from different countries participate in this competition. While registering for the competition one has to provide information like writer_id, name contact_info, experience etc. Writer submits his/her comics with essential information like comic_title, genre, no_of_character and summary. And according to recent rules of the platform, a single writer can submit multiple comics and even multiple writers can co author a single comic. After that reviewers from different places of the world read as many comics as they want and provide their feedback like ratings, comments about comics. But one can't provide multiple feedback for a single comic.
